Crow View Rodeo Earned Plaudits Of Large Crowd

START NEW CONCRETE SIDE-WALK ALONGSIDE SCHOOL GROUNDS

On Monday morning town foreman Joe Malanchuk put his gang
of workmen on the job of laying
the new concrete sidewalk which will stretch right across the south side of the school grounds from Central Avenue to the Miners'
hospital.

Once the new concrete wall and
sidewalk are laid considerable improvement will have been made to this particular downtown area.

THEATRE ADVERTISEMENT
OMITTED THIS WEEK

Owing to the forthcoming week's theatre schedule being in a state
of uncertainty it has been deemed advisable by Proprietor Wm. Cole
to refrain from advertising programs which may not appear as advertised.

He plans on making some
changes in his theatre programs
throughout the Pass within the next few days and should have a definite schedule ready for next week.

Best Cowboys In Western Canada Competed; Frank Duce Big Winner With Wally Lindstrom Runner-Up

George Aldoff Only Local Boy To Get Nibble At Prize Money; Big Powerful Horses Gave Cowboys
Thrilling Rides; Few Casualties

Coleman's first Crowview Rodeo
was an outstanding success from
the moment the colorful parade
started wending its way along
main street until the last wild
horse had been saddled and headed
down the enclosure towards the judges. An estimated 3,500 to 4,000
spectators sat thrilled throughout
the afternoon as man and beast
fought furiously for supremacy,
one over the other, and applauded
the feats of daring horsemanship
that was witnessed time and again.

Frank Duce, of Cardston, won
the All-Round cowboy honor with cash winnings amounting to $184.50. His closest rival was Wally Lindstrom, of Airdrie, with winnings totaling $174.25. Duce, in addition to his cash prizes won the handsome leather chaps, donated by Bellevue Inn, for the best All Round Cowboy.

PARADE

A cloudless sky from which shone a brilliant sun gave a perfect setting for the Rodeo. Crowds threw and four deep lined the gray decorated main street as the time approached for the start of the parade. Much time, effort and money were in evidence as the
colorful parade wended its way
towards West Coleman and back.

The parade was led by two ROMP in scarlet tunics followed
by the flags of the Allied Nations,
each flag being carried aloft by a representative of the respective nation. The 50-piece Michel-Natal band, in which three Coleman
bandmen took part, followed playing snappy marching tunes. Then followed decorated bicycles, and tricycles. His Worship the Mayor and his council followed in an open Packard car. Next came the Old Timers float seating approximately twenty old timers of forty years
or more. They were given a good hand. The new fire truck followed,
splendid in its bright red paint
which shimmered in the sun. Coleman Cadet Corps with six young cadets with rifles came next
followed in turn by the forestry
truck depicting a forest scene.
Zak's, Polish, Lions, Ukrainian Physical Training Class followed in turn. The Elks float, which gained second money, featured an Indian smoking a pipe in his teepee and was quite good. Coleman Hardware, Coleman Motors
and the Board of Trade vehicles
followed in turn. The Grand Union's float depicting a Civic Centre and surrounded by several young boys and girls was good but
just placed third in the prizes.
Crows Nest Lake Dance Pavilion
provided jazz music by Ed's
orchestra. Ken Short's limousine brought gasps of awe at its splendor. The Motordrome was represented with one of the old vintage horseless carriages which puffed, puffed its way along the parade route. It also received a prize. First prize was awarded to the Sam Sagoff float which depicted a trapper's shack. Much work had been given this particular float and it proved quite popular among the spectators.

St. John Ambulance workers
were in the parade with their own
float as was the Memorial Fund Committee with a replica of the cenotaph which they have under erection at the present time. The Canadian Legion was represented
by a float that featured in the main
the antics of Bud Clarke who clowned his way throughout the parade. Returned soldiers in uniform were also featured on the float.

Others competing were the Pass
Herald, Paton's Baking Service,
Turtle Mountain Playgrounds and Frank, the contestants, Rodeo committee, local youngsters on horseback. Coleman Pipe band was given a good hand as it passed

proudly by in the centre of the
parade.

The parade dispersed at Central school grounds upon its return
from west Coleman.

FLOATS: 1. Sam Sagoff; 2.
Coleman Elks; 3. Grand Union
hotel.

COMIC: 1. The Motordrome.
DECORATED CAR: The Motordrome.

BEST DRESSED COWBOY:
1. Jim Walker; 2. Ernie Goulding.
BEST DRESSED COWGIRL:
1. Mary Hopkins; 2. Mrs. J.
Walker.

BEST DRESSED JUNIOR
COWBOY: 1. Jimmy Walker jr.;
2. Walter Zur.

BEST DRESSED JUNIOR
COWGIRL: 1. Marlene Aldoff.
DECORATED BICYCLES: 1.
David Morris; 2. Carol D'Amico;
3. Grace Forais.

Coleman Elks turned their second place money prize back to the Rodeo committee as a donation towards the civic centre fund.

Parade chairman Jim Kerr has voiced his surprise and disappointment at the very few decorated bicycle entries. Good prizes had been set aside for this class and
due to insufficient bicycles a little youngster on a tricycle received a cash prize. Next year Mr. Kerr
wants more decorated bicycles.

RODEO

The Rodeo started shortly after 1:30 p.m. amid an address of welcome from Mayor Abousaffy, and a march past down the arena by
the girls carrying the flags of Allied Nations, Michel-Natal band
and the contestants themselves.

Herman Linder, Rodeo director,
then took charge and the bucking
bronzes were soon charging from their pens one after the other and
throwing some of the more inexperienced riders high into the air.

The horses appeared big and
heavy and at the start were throwing most of the riders high, wide
and handsome. However the cowboys soon started to ride 'em and
the battle for supremacy was on.
The events included calf roping,
saddle horse riding, steer riding,
steer decorating, wild cow milking
and bareback riding.

The calf roping saw many surprises as the calves, said to be
larger than usual at stampedes,
had no doubt to the lateness of the summer, led some of the best
ropers in the business a merry
chase and oft times made them
look a little foolish as cowboys
with good reputations missed their calves altogether much to the disgust of their supporters.

Following are the results of the various events with total points
and cash prizes:

BRONCO RIDING (Saddle): 1.
Laurel Ives (Clareholm) 174 and 174-348, $138; 2. Wally Lindstrom (Airdrie) 172 and 172-344,
$102.25; 3. Frank Duce (Cardston)
170 and 171-341, 61.50; 4. Carl
Olson (Cardston) 169 and 171-340, $30.75.

STEER DECORATING: 1. Louis
Palmer (Vulcan) 5 4/5 sec. $90; 2.
Dick Andrews (Clareholm) 6 4/5
sec. $88.75; 3. Frank McDonald (Maycroft) 8 4/5 sec. $47.50; 4.
Frank Manyfingers (Hillspring)
36 1/5 sec. $39.25.

CALF ROPIING: 1. Fred Gladstone (Cardston) 19 2/5 sec. $123;
2. Harwood Potter (Cardston) 25
sec. $93.75; 3. Tom Duce (Card-ston) 26 3/5 sec. $64; 4. Jim Coc-lan (Stavely) 26 4/5 sec. $34.50.

BAREBACK RIDING: 1. Frank
Duce (Cardston) 175 and 177-352,
$84; 2. Jack Ellison (Cardston)
171 and 174-345, $68; 3. Everett

CORRECTION

Last week in seeking information on successful mine officials at the recent mine examinations, The Journal was given the name of Gordon Marconi as having successfully sat for his second class papers. This was incorrect as it was Jack Marconi, an elder brother,
who received his papers.

Rumblings Of Strike As Miners Move For Increased Pay

(Lethbridge Herald)

Coal miners throughout the
three western provinces are now
waiting to learn how large a wage increase their union officials are going to demand at forthcoming
negotiations with colliery operators. At the same time many of the miners are also pondering over
the possibility of a strike developing out of the coming wage demands.

Several weeks ago, it is learned,
officials of the United Mine Workers of America in District 18,
which covers Alberta, British Columbia and Saskatchewan, served
notice on colliery operators that they wished to reopen their working agreement and seek increased wages due to the highest
cost of living.

EXPIRES NEXT MONTH

The agreement does not expire
until the end of next March.
Shortly after receiving the notice, colliery operators met to ex-

AMATEUR PHOTOGRAPHERS HAD FIELD DAY

Amateur photographers had a field day at the Rodeo on Saturday. From the moment the parade
started until the final event at the Rodeo cameras were seen poised
for action. A check at Uno Photo Studio on Monday afternoon revealed that 196 rolls of film had been received up to that time.

W. H. Haysom Speaks At Convention

Presentation To John L. Lewis At U.M.W.A. Convention At Calgary

An oil painting of Mt. Eisenhower in Banff National Park was presented by District 18, United Mine Workers of America, to John
L. Lewis, international president of the union at a dinner in his honor last night at Calgary. Angus Morrison, secretary of the district,
made the presentation.

Mr. Lewis addressed the district
UMW of A. convention Monday
and will leave Calgary Wednesday
for Chicago. He arrived from the Pacific Northwest Friday. This is his first visit to District 18.

In a short address Mr. Lewis
said all of the officers of District 18
"have an unexcelled record of accomplishment." He invited good representation from the district at
the international convention in Atlantic City in October.

"There are no stressors or strains
in our organization," he said, "no
factional warfare, no confusion.
Delegates to the international convention will receive a strict accounting of their officers' stewardship. I am sure they will express confidence in that stewardship and instruct the officers to go forward."

NEW WAGE POLICIES

Main business of the convention
is to work out new wage policies.
Committees will be set up to meet

with the mine operators and their committees to work out new agreements. That should take place in a few days, officials said. At that time a joint press committee will be set up by the union and the operators. No information on the union's demands or the progress of negotiations will be given out until
it is functioning.

Tom Uphill, of Fernie, B.C. and a member of the union for 40 years
said the United Mine Workers of America, doing the most hazardous and arduous work under the most obvious conditions were in the vanguard of all legislative labor reforms in both Canada and the United States. "They know
what they want and how to get it,"
he said.

E. E. Roper, editor and publisher of the district magazine,
said he saw in the current convention "an opportunity to bring
the great wings of the trade union movement together again."

W. H. Haysom, of Coleman,
member for 43 years, also spoke briefly.

Coleman delegates attending the convention include local president
Wm. White, secretary-treasurer
Mac Stigley, John Ramsey and John McNeil. Mr. Wm. Haysom,
while not a delegate, is also attending the convention.

Dominoes Take Lead In Softball Semi-Final

Too Much 'Skura' For Visitors;
Local Win Evening Exhibition Game

Coleman Dominoes will travel to Readymede, a small village close-
by Lethbridge, where they will oppose the Readymede Royals in the second of a best two out of three game series for the right to advance into the southern Alberta
softball final. Dominoes were too
good for visitors here on Sunday
afternoon and trimmed them 9-1.
In an exhibition game in the evening Dominoes won 9-8.

While the Dominoes have a good
all-round team their real strength
lies in Bill Skura, giant pitcher,
who held his opponents powerless
with effortless ease. In the first game he worked the full nine innings and struck-out 14 opposing batters. In the night-cap he was again called to duty after Kovack had allowed eight runs to come home after only two and a half innings. Skura held the Royals at bay, striking out twelve men in five and a half innings of pitching while his team-mates
came through with sufficient runs
from the opposing pitcher Eby before Jason stepped into the pitcher's mound to hold Coleman at
bay. His efforts, however, came too late.

In the first game Jason, who had
been pitching a magnificent game,
lost some of his control in the
fourth inning and allowed six runs
on six hits, Kovack setting the pace with a home run. Coleman scored one in the first inning, one in the third, six in the fourth and one in the sixth against an un-
earned run scored for the Royals
in the third.

Mrs. Emma White Buried At Pincher

Funeral services were held in Pincher Creek on July 31 from St.
John's Anglican church for Mrs.
Emma White, 90 years, well
known old-timer of the Pincher Creek and Pincher Station districts.
Rev. Dr. R. Magowan officiated at the last rites.

Born at Ockerhill, Staffordshire,
England, she came to Canada in 1904 and settled in the Pincher
Station district near her son, J. Gilbert, who was employed on the CPR at the time. There she resided until 1910 and then moved to the village of Pincher Station where she resided until 1933. Since 1933
Mrs. White has resided with her daughter, Mrs. Wm. Read, Coleman. Mrs. White was predeceased
by her husband and also her son.

Left to mourn her passing is one daughter, Mrs. Wm. Read, of Coleman. Interment took place
Wednesday in Pincher cemetery, Pincher Creek. Pallbearers were
A. Hammond, E. Connely, E.
Evans, F. Robbins, J. Derbyshire
and H. Dugan.

Effective Control

Says International Control Of Atom Bombs Is Necessary

All of the major and most of the smaller nations of the world will have 500 atom bombs each—enough to blow up every city in the United States of over 50,000 population—within seven years unless an effective international control of atomic energy is set up soon.

"Effective control" means an international authority with "absolute power" within its own limits over every national government in the world.

These were the messages of Dr. Harrison Brown, University of Chicago, chemistry professor and assistant director of the Oak Ridge, Tenn., atom bomb project, who addressed a Rotary club luncheon in Minneapolis recently.

While the United States still knows more about atom bomb manufacturing than anyone else, it is not alone. All the other major nations are going full blast with their atomic work, Dr. Brown said.

"Any nation has enough uranium to make enough bombs to blow up the United States if they dig deep enough. They know that it can be done and they know what material to use, so they can cut the expense of developing it to about one hundred-and-fiftieth of what it cost us."

Unless a potent international control authority is set up and operating within a year and one-half, its establishment will be next to impossible, Dr. Brown predicted, because by then many nations will be making bombs.

Naturalist Dead

Man Who Claims Discovery Of Sea Lion Wants Credit

LONDON—The man who claimed to have discovered that a sea lion could balance a ball on its nose wants credit on his tombstone, his will revealed.

The naturalist, who died in December, asked that his epitaph be "Joseph Woodward, F.Z.S., naturalist, discoverer of latent equilibrist powers given to sea lion species." The will left $12,000 to three hospitals to endow beds for circus and variety performers and $4,000 to the Salvation Army to give them Bibles.

A Long Time Ago

Life Was Simpler And Mankind Is Homesick For It

Fundamentally, mankind is homesick. Away down deep, so deep it is a primal memory, rather than any sort of forgotten teaching of childhood, it can recall a different sort of life. It was a simple life, unbeset by international problems, crucial strikes, burdensome taxes. No one talked in those days of men having powers they could not control. Mere things were a great deal less important. It must have been a long time ago.—Toronto Globe and Mail.

NOT WORTH WHILE

The hooter had sounded for dinner. The foreman noticed how quickly one of the men, a notoriously lazy fellow, put down his pick. "I believe," he said sarcastically, "that if the hooter sounded when you had your pick in the air you would leave it there."

"If it got as near to the time as this," replied the man, "I wouldn't trouble to lift it up!"

DUAL-CONTROL INSTRUCTION CAR—A car with dual control is the idea of Robert McKinley, right, of Vancouver, to teach prospective drivers. The student can operate brake, clutch, accelerator and steering simultaneously, but the instructor has over-riding controls.

Funny and Otherwise

Just Nowhere

The circus and fun fair was visiting a small American town, and one old man had taken a fancy to the roundabouts.

Round and round he went never seeming to tire, until all his money was gone. Then only did he dismount to rejoin his wife, who had been watching him with impatient eyes.

"Well, John," she said, "you sure have spent your money and had a good ride. But where you been, where you been?"

Request Granted

The manager of a toy company wired to the proprietor of a theatre in a small town where his company was to appear: "Want to hold rehearsal at your theatre tomorrow afternoon, three o'clock. Have stage manager, stage carpenter, property man, chief electrician and all stage hands present promptly at that hour."

Shortly after he received the following reply. "All right. He will be there!"

His View

Two farmers of the old school stood at the corner of a street in a large town the other day when a lady passed by dressed in the height of fashion.

"Thee, John," said one, "what's think of that, lad, eh?"

John eyed her for a full minute, and then said: "Ay, Will, it's bad ground 'thet takes no much 'up-dressing."

Sound Better

A valuable but useless counsel was addressing the jury in a "running down" case. "Gentlemen," he said, "this accident to my client's little 'orse will ruin 'im! The plaintiff's all is in 'is little 'orse!"

The judge, upon whose sensitive ear these constant and unapertained allusions had grated, could restrain himself no longer.

"Don't you think, Mr. Blank," he interjected, "that at this stage of the case we might refer to it as a pony?"

Who's Guilty?

The vicar was addressing a mother's meeting.

"It has come to my knowledge," he said, "that a woman who is sitting among you today is not carrying out her duties as a wife should do. Instead of preparing a meal for her husband on his return from a hard day's work, she spends her time gossiping. The consequences are that her husband spends most of his evenings in the Boar's Head. Sooner or later this will lead to domestic strife. So that you will know to whom I refer, I will throw this book at her!"

Not Him

The office boy was asked to ring up a number and got the wrong one. "Mr. Woolf," came the reply.

"Who?" replied the boy.

"Woolf," replied the wrong number.

What's the Use

Mrs. Brown was anxious to let her neighbor know about her new car. "I'm thoroughly tired out," she said. "I've been at the wheel all day!"

"I can sympathize with you," replied her neighbor. "I've been doing my mangle, too!"

Would Be Help

Inventor Working On Gadget To Limit After-Dinner Speeches

A Chicago inventor with an eye to giving aid and comfort to suffering humanity has come up with a machine that regulates the length of addresses by after-dinner speakers. This is a great step forward. It is to be fondly hoped that the gadget not only is foolproof, but that the inventor sets to work immediately on the mechanical additions or adjustments necessary to improve the quality of speeches. Most habitual listeners, however, would settle for an attachment to tune out at any time.

A VALUABLE GIFT

The American Red Cross recently presented its Norwegian sister organization with a most valuable gift—fixtures sufficient to equip the new hospital for feeble minded children soon to be erected in Oslo will be shipped from the United States in the near future. The gift includes linen, sterilizers, complete dental equipment, surgical instruments, washing machines, and a complete set of the most modern kitchen machines and equipment.

PRODUCED LICENSE

Joseph Zamoski, of Baltimore, says he was driving his car—and fast—when a Virginia state trooper waved him down, and said sarcastically: "Let me see your pilot's license." Zamoski, a pilot, pulled out his airplane papers. The officer laughed, and let him go with a warning to slow down on the ground.

"YOU KNOW WHEN IT HAPPENS"

By MATTHEW F. CHRISTOPHER

Wheeler Newspaper Syndicate (Copyright)

HE WAS a farm kid, and like some farm kids he had a slight stoop to his shoulders. His face was nearly raw from sunburn; but his blue eyes had a vivid sparkle she liked. And his reddish hair had a crispness to it like toast.

They stood together on the cinder driveway, with the moon hanging like a pumpkin up there in the sky. Light beamed from the windows of the garage where George and Carl were tinkering as a motorcycle. "You know something," she said, low and serious. "I thought you'd be happier tonight."

He looked at her. A speckle of light glinted in his eye. "What makes you think I'm not?" She laughed. "I can tell." "Mind reader?" "No. Lip reader." Her brown eyes shone. "You haven't kissed me, yet. Or don't you want to?"

He grimaced. He lowered his head so that his lips met hers. There was slight pressure behind them, and something electrical that tingled her finger tips. But it was brief—and he hadn't put his arms around her. "You're sweet," he said. "I like you." "That's because you don't know any other girl, if what you told me last night is true."

"It is," he answered. "What's more, I never kissed any other girl but you. How could I? Living alone with my father and mother, with no brothers or sisters, and working almost every minute of every day since I was old enough to carry a hoe."

She stared. "You never went to school?" His eyes laughed. "Since when isn't that work?"

"You!" she exclaimed, and grabbed his hand. "Come on. I'll introduce you to my brothers—then we'll start for the movie."

She walked in, pulling him. Her brothers were coveralls smattered with grease.

"Hello, boys!" Edith said. "George—Carl. I want you to meet Jerry. Jerry Worden."

The boys lifted dirty hands. Jerry laughed. "I wouldn't mind, but maybe your sister would. I'd be glad to next time."

On their way to the theatre he said, "They act like nice guys."

"They're always tinkering—far into the night, usually." Between her brows were the thin wrinkle of a frown. "But what are we doing talking about them?" He looked at her. "What shall we talk about?"

She met his eyes, and saw how the moon tinted them a soft yellow. She pressed his arm closer to her, and was conscious of a deep pounding in her breast. She wondered if she were really falling for him.

"Let's talk about you," she said. "I know, you told me you were lonely. You said you didn't have any friends. You said maybe a girl is what you wanted, to sort of adjust

you to the kind of living you think you needed."

"Well, that's true. Anyway I guess it's true. A town crossed his forehead. "Why bring that up now." Her heart was a painful beat. But she couldn't tell for sure. Love was intangible. You either had it or you didn't.

"You're not happy now," she said. "I guess I just don't appeal to you."

"You're talking crazy. How do you know how I feel toward you? How do you know that right this minute I don't feel like grabbing you up in my arms, holding you tight and kissing you like a guy never kissed a girl before? How do you know?"

"Look," he continued. "I never felt good until I met you. Get that through your head. You were all I needed to set me right. I know it as sure as I am born. Now, do you believe me?"

"I believe you," she whispered. A tear dropped upon her cheek.

THEY left the movie, had a milkshake, and he walked her home. If they could always be together like this, she thought. It would be wonderful.

He kissed her at the door, a long, cherishing kiss—the kind she had wanted before. The kind she was hoping he'd give her. She went into the house smiling, and her fingertips were tingling stronger than ever now with that electrical feeling.

TWENTY minutes later the kitchen door opened and George came in. He was grinning triumphantly. He and Carl must have got the motorcycle fixed, she thought, and she smiled. Those kids!

"Hey, sis!" George said. "Get me some lemonade, will you? For three!"

She stared at him. "Three?" "That's what I said," George said. "Carl, me, and your friend, Jerry. Boy, is he a mechanic."

Trance-like, she poured out the lemonade, and handed it to George, who took it out on the tray.

She was sure of it, now. Jerry didn't come back to repair the motorcycle. The motorcycle was the path he took to return to her.

A soft smile played across her lips. She set the magazine face down on her lap, an drested her head against the back of her chair. She was looking at a fly creeping across the ceiling, but really, she wasn't thinking of the fly at all.

Under Some Conditions

Over-Exertion Even In Simple Games Can Be Dangerous

The Wichita Falls, Texas, man who put so much energy into a demonstration of his favorite golf swing that he broke both legs in the effort, really gave a demonstration of how dangerous over-exertion can be. Professional athletes talk now how easy it is to injure or break an arm or a leg by a sudden twist of these members. Golf is not regarded as the most strenuous of games, but the above circumstance indicates it can become so under certain conditions. All anyone has to do to find out how easy it is to get "out of condition" is to resume some work or game that has not been participated in for some time. The sensible thing to do is avoid exerting oneself to the limit, keeping in mind one's age and physical condition.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

FATHERLY PERCEPTION

By MARGARET ELSOM

Copyright
Wheeler Newspaper Syndicate

WE HAD BEEN married about ten months when I said to Marie: "Darling, just how much do you think we could scrape up to buy a car—just a cheap one, any kind just so long as it goes?"

Marie was washing the supper dishes at the time, and me—well I was drying them for her, and I'm not her-people either! I'm only too pleased to think that I have such a fine girl as Marie for my wife. Gee, but I love her. And here we are, working on a fruit farm, 50 miles away from our nearest relative, and six miles from the nearest town. Once a week we managed to get into town with Mr. Kayes (my boss). But when a man expects to become a father in two months' time he wants to make certain he has a definite way of getting to the hospital ahead of the stork.

Whenever I thought of the stork it sent the chills up and down my spine, and I envisioned it speeding through the stratosphere—where ever storks do their speeding—and me, breathlessly trying to obtain transportation for myself and Marie. It wasn't a nice vision. In fact, it gave me "stork fever," and now as we're doing the dishes the lanky, feathered flying animal loomed closer than ever, and that was the reason why I had asked Marie about a car.

Marie sighed a little. "Yes, things sometimes happen before schedule. I think we could manage a cheap car, say around $200.00."

I finished drying the Blue Willow cup—and also finished the cup's usefulness. Whenever I'm drying dishes the tow towel seems to have a habit of getting mixed up in the handles of the cups, and when I go to set them down and pull the towel away, it doesn't come clear (that's the stork) and cup I've broke in the last three days. It really gets a man down when he's expecting the stork.

There had been an ad running in the paper along these lines: "For sale, Model A, good running order, five good tires, motor recently overhauled. Selling price; Phone 264." Marie agreed it might do.

I threw the paper aside and went over to the telephone to ring the numbers while Marie stood biting her nails. A squeaky little voice answered.

"Yup, this here's the place, Mister car ain't sold as yet, she ain't, but she's likely right smart good to be."

"You don't see bargains a-carburatin' under your nose like this every day, no sir. She won't be settin' here long, no she won't, so you want to grab her right quick."

The man breathed and I had time to say, "How much?"

"Two and a half as she stands—right ready to exilerate down the home stretch—yes sir," he said.

As I felt the conclusion of the call, $50 as I went through the ceiling, but I thought I might be able to bring him down a bit. I reached for my hat and coat and made a dash to catch Mr. Kayes, on his way into town to lodge meeting. I yelled to Marie, that I wouldn't be long, and to keep her fingers crossed. She looked so lovely, standing in the doorway, hugging the Persian oil, which we had called Donald, but which had to be changed to Donalds. (I never was much of a farmer).

It happened that the owner of the car was a very old gentleman who thought that his rheumatism wouldn't let his leg move fast enough to "break" her when she needed it. He was slightly stubborn over the $50, but I won out. In half an hour I was riding down the front street, proud as an expectant father—I felt I had obeyed my "premonition" to get a conveyance—and my heart sang. So excited was I that I pulled her over to the curb and went into the corner drug store to "phone Marie."

"Darling," I said, "we are the owner of a $200 automobile—and it runs." She sounded excited. "What's the matter — you're all right, are you?"

"Oh, yes, dear," she said, "but hurry home—it's happened."

My heart ceased to beat, and the booth went all black for just a moment, but, pulling myself together, as an expectant father should, I told her to get right into bed. I would be home immediately. It had happened—and her all alone, and—oh, at the telephone! Why it was impossible. But she said it had happened. Oh, the poor darling.

I jumped into the car, and raced around to Dr. Gillette. He was just changing a tire in his garage. I streaked across the lawn and pulled him toward my humble car, explaining what had happened. "I'll take you out, doctor—I'll take you out—never mind your flat tire—I'll run you out to Marie right away."

"But—but, my dear man," he said, "let me at least get my bag."

He rushed to the house, coming out again in two seconds flat. Jumping in the car, he asked, "Did you say she answered the 'phone'?" "Yes, doctor—yes—yes, and I told her to get right back into bed, I'd be right out."

"Incredible," he mumbled, "incredible." "Will that hurt her?" I pleaded. "Incredible!" I said. And still don't know why the Doctor grinned. Well, the old car snorted up the hills, and back-fired down them. Leaning heavy round the bends, she ticked off the six miles quick. A cow got in the way once, I pressed the horn button, and it went, "Brr-r-r-p-p," and unthinkingly I said, "excuse me!"

Looking back, on that evening, I sure feel like the fool that I was. As long as I live, I'll never forget the scene when we opened the door. There was Marie, on her hands and knees, over a cardboard carton which held Donalds and five newly-born kittens!

I had to wait six more weeks before I became a father!

SELECTED RECIPES

FISH—FRESH OR FROZEN

Fish is a menu favorite whether caught by the amateur angler or chosen from the stock of fresh or quick frozen varieties. Its popularity is well deserved, too, from the point of view of food value and variety.

Take mackerel for instance. Research shows this fish to be a good source of three important B vitamins as well as good quality protein. Mackerel contains considerable fat and for that reason is best baked or broiled.

One of the most delicious and one of the simplest ways to prepare small fresh fish or filets of large types, is by oven frying. This method cooks the fish quickly and gives it that crisp golden crust about which gourmets rave.

Oven-Fried Fish

1 pound fish filets
1 cup milk
1 tablespoon salt
4 cups corn flakes
4 teaspoons cooking oil
Dip fish in salted milk, then in finely crushed corn flakes. Arrange in well-oiled baking sheet. Sprinkle with oil. Bake in very hot oven (500 deg. F.) 12 to 15 minutes. Yield: Four 4-ounce servings.

Boiled Mackerel

3 to 4 pounds fish
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon paprika
2 tablespoons melted butter
Have whole fish split and cleaned. Wash thoroughly and wipe with a cloth. Mix salt and paprika with melted butter and brush over fish. Place fish skin side down on greased broiler rack. Broil 2 inches from heat about 10 to 15 minutes, until brown and flesh flakes when tried with a fork. Serve at once with sections of lemon. Yield: 6 servings.

NEW DRESS UNIFORM

Britain's peacetime army is to have a new ceremonial and walk-out uniform. The dress committee of the war office announced that it will be of blue serge with a stand-up collar fastened at the front like the old patrol jacket uniform.

We're always hearing about these "zero hours", in various disputes. It's a good name, because nothing happens at those hours.

DEFACING BOOKS

Is Strictly Against Library Rules But People Do It

Books owned by oneself may be marked just as much as the owner likes, but it is an impertinence to make notes on books owned by the public and loaned from the public library.

Every so often one gets a book profusely marked with pen and ink. There is someone who seems to take a delight in recording his opposition to the teaching given in some books. That the notes are futile and often foolish is beside the mark; it should not be done.

Everyone who borrows books from the library has a right to get them fresh and unsoiled by foolish marginal notes, or underlinings. Apart altogether from the ethical side of the case, it is against the rules of the library to deface books. —Guelph Mercury.

Beyond The Horizon

There Is Always The Unfolding Of New Lands

Wherever one may be, there is always a horizon, the boundary of the world one sees, the line where earth and sky would seem to meet.

A city presents a disorderly skyline—spires, apartment houses, and office buildings crowded pell-mell—but nature's myriad skylines are peace and majesty, whether it be rolling hills, blue line of sea, feathered edge of forest or towering mountains.

As the wanderer moves, his skyline moves, and as certainly as there is always a horizon, there is always a beyond. The unknown lying beyond the horizon has tempted the seer since the beginning of history. It has lured me into rough seas and bleak wildernesses.

In his long journeying no traveler ever reached the horizon. It lay forever beyond his grasp, a tantalizing line on the rim of the sky, extending mute challenge.

There is, one might think, a hint of the eternal in the horizon and a hint of infinity in the beyond. The promise of the skyline is not barren. Always there is the fulfillment—the slow unfolding of new lands.—Montreal Gazette.

A smart man is one who possesses enough judgment to use his own.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

WHAT MANNER OF MEN ARE THEY?

It appears to be no secret that Coleman's first Crow View Rodeo failed to make much money. At least not to the amount anticipated. The reason appears to be directly connected with the ticket selling system. No individual is to blame, it is just a case that the system employed proved inadequate for the occasion.

Despite the fact that a large staff was employed it was not sufficient to plug every gap through which poured many spectators. Spectators, running in to the hundreds, failed to be sold and that was revenue lost.

There were others, however, who absolutely refused to buy a ticket and went so far as threatening physical violence to the ticket seller who accosted them. What manner of men are they?

Here was a group of men who during the past three months had spent time, energy and money in order to sponsor a show which would publicize the town, give citizens of southern Alberta a splendid day's entertainment and raise funds to start a Civic Centre fund for the town of Coleman. They had done this gratis, in fact all committee members bought admission tags into the field. Yet some men refused to buy a ticket to see this big show. When one knows the work involved to stage such a show it is hard to believe that anyone would be low enough to attend the show and refuse to pay an admittance fee. How was the show's expenses to be paid? How were the competing cowboys to be paid? The answers to these questions were not the concern of these chisellers and they proved it by brushing past the ticket seller and into the grounds.

FENCE REQUIRED

The only solution, as we see it, to the difficulty, is the erection of a fence. We realize the cost and huge labor job involved, but if this Rodeo is to be a civic project then the citizens will have to lend a hand with the fence's erection. It is quite possible the entire cost of such a fence could have been paid by the number of persons who gained free admittance to Saturday's show.

It has been suggested that the Rodeo committee inquire into the purchase of an interment camp fence and supports. That is a good idea and inquiry should be made.

Once a fence has been placed around the grounds admission gates could be set up and if anyone refused to pay then he failed to gain entry into the grounds. To see that no vandalism took place during the show a group of riders could be employed to ride around the outside of the grounds constantly during the life of the show.

Letter To The Editor

EDITOR, THE JOURNAL:

Dear Sir:

I do not feel that I should leave Coleman without first complimenting the President of the Coleman Board of Trade, Mr. H. Allen and all the rest of his very able assistants for the service they have rendered to the Coleman Crow View Rodeo. I have lived in the Crows' Nest Pass since July, 1905, and in Coleman since 1923 and I have never seen such splendid harmony and co-operation as has been exemplified among the businessmen and the rest of the people in town. The Coleman Rodeo was a success in every detail. The trick horse and his master were well worth the price of admission alone.

Herman Linder proved that he is an expert in his line, as there was never a dull moment. Mr. Linder kept the acts going with a precision that only a man of his ability can do.

The committee had to take a very great risk, as the expenses were very high in an undertaking of this kind, but in this case it was a proof of the old axiom, United we stand. Divided we fall, and there is no doubt in my mind that the Civic Centre which they are working for, is as good as completed, provided they maintain the same co-operative spirit. So here's wishing you success in all your future undertakings.

Sincerely yours,

GEORGE PATTINSON.

Future Of Coal Mining Is Bright!

Profitable Career Waiting For Those Who Seek It.

Coal mines the province over are in need of trained miners and trained officials. Working conditions are being steadily improved throughout the years and wages are at a higher level than in most industries.

To young men with initiative and ability, coal mining can lead to a most profitable career through study and in a few short years third, second and finally first class papers can be secured.

The local coal companies will lend their support to any employee wishing to study coal mining with the object of securing their mining papers.

CATERING

The Catering committee is to be commended on a wonderful job
well done. Several refreshment booths had been set up both in the field and on main street and all did steady business. Sufficient food and drink as well as ice cream and
some confectionery had been secured
and the food and drink lasted
throughout the day despite the heavy demand. The Lions were in charge of the catering, supervised
by chairman S. C. Short. Many young women worked hard in the kitchens the entire day, ably assisted by the club members and other volunteers.

CARNIVAL

Coleman Elks supervised the carnival on Friday and Saturday
evenings in their usual efficient manner. Play appeared quite slow
on Friday night but on Saturday
the arena was packed and the
patrons appeared to be spending freely. Ray Spillers won the $50
bond on Friday night and his win
was a popular one. It is doubtful
if any citizen works as hard for community progress than Mr.
Spillers and his win comes as a
reward for his wonderful community spirit. William Cytko was the lucky holder of the ticket which won the Saturday night's $50 bond.

DANCE

Doug. Moores and his committee
ably supervised the dance, music
for which was provided by Doc Randle and his five five from Calgary. Friday evening it was just a straight jittery dance while
on Saturday evening it was billed
as a Cowboy's Ball with tickets
selling at fifty cents each.

CASUALTIES

There were a few casualties
during the day. On Friday evening
while coming to Coleman a young Lethbridge woman got as far as Brooket on horseback when her

horse fell, the girl suffered an injured ankle. She was brought to the local hospital for attention but
after a brief stay was allowed to depart.

Joe Zur, of Coleman, suffered
chest wounds and bleeding as the result of a fall during competition.

Charlie Gilmar, of Blairmore,
and Adolf Trotz, of Coleman, both
suffered fractured wrists in the contest. Roy Killington, an Indian, suffered bruised knees as the result of falls.

SPECIAL EVENTS

Special events at the Rodeo included California's Bobbie Hill, in Perrett and his trick horse, Major.

The horse was exceptionally well

by his master. Coleman Ukrainian Society Tumblers did a ten minute
exhibition of tumbling which brought a big hand from the crowd. The tumblers were supervised by Peter Meronjuk.

being won by Isabel Dick and Mike Girhiny. A dainty lunch was served by Mrs. Kwamy and the guest of honor was presented with a pair
of silver salt and pepper shakers
for which she thanked her friends.
The party broke up about midnight
with the singing of "For She's a

Farm Problems In Britain

MORE THAN A YEAR has passed since the war in Europe ended. At that time there was expectation of an early relaxation of wartime controls and of other demands which had been made on the people because of the urgent needs of the times. World conditions, however, have been slow to improve, and in the case of food the situation has become increasingly critical. Farmers everywhere are being urged upon to help in this emergency, and there has been little relief for them from the pressure of the war years. A recent article published by the British Ministry of Information tells of the ways in which farmers in Britain are being called upon to meet the present food situation. The article says in part: "In wartime the food policy in the United Kingdom aimed to provide as adequate a diet as possible for the human population, while restricting to the maximum extent practicable the strain upon merchant shipping tonnage. In carrying out that policy, it was essential that there be full control of supplies at every stage from producer to consumer. Thus the utilization of land, the proportion of grass and tillage, the crops grown, the disposal of crops, purchases of feeding-stuffs, and the marketing and slaughter of livestock were all brought under strict control."

Made To Grow Certain Crops

"Farmers were made to grow wheat, potatoes, sugar beet, and other crops for human consumption to an extent dictated by the nation's needs, and, having grown the crops, farmers were not allowed to use any of them for feeding to livestock, with the exception of portions that were judged by Government agents to be unfit for human consumption. The maximum proportion of tailings and screenings which could be used by the producer was fixed by law. Farmers were not only forbidden to feed to their livestock any crops suitable for human consumption, but were also forbidden to sell other bread grain or fodder to any purchasers other than merchants approved by the Ministry of Food. These sales of fodder grains, together with the oilseed cakes, wheat offals, and other by-products of oilseeds and grain imported for human consumption, constituted a pool out of which supplies were rationed to essential livestock. This resulted in drastic decreases in the numbers of pigs and poultry kept by farmers, but it also allowed increased grain supplies for human consumption. With peace came two main relaxations: the abolition of compulsory directions for wheat growing, and an increased allocation of foodstuffs for pigs and poultry. But, now, a year after the end of the war in Europe, Britain has reimposed or is about to reimpose both of these restrictions. Farmers have not been released from their obligation to sell all the millable grain and edible potatoes that they grow, and sales of fodder grains still have to be made only to approved buyers, so that the total supply can be kept under control and directed to the livestock which it is most desired to maintain in order to maximize food supplies to meet the world food crisis."

Fights Famine With Intensity

"It has been decided to increase the acreage of wheat for harvesting in 1947 to 34% above the pre-war average, and to reintroduce compulsory crop-ping orders. Stocks of bread grain on farms and in stores, together with the imports that the United Kingdom Government expect to receive before next harvest, will barely suffice to provide a supply of flour and bread comparable to that of wartime, and if arrivals of wheat fall short of expectations, it will be necessary either to reduce consumption, or to increase the rate of extraction, which will necessitate a further cut in rations of feeding stuffs for livestock, and will also lower the food value of the reduced volume of rations. Thus, for the remainder of 1946 and during the production year 1946-1947, the full rigour and intensity of the United Kingdom wartime food programme will be reinstated, in order to secure the maximum possible output of food for humans. Apart from the fact that United Kingdom farmers and farm workers are tired, and that a good deal of their farm machinery needs replenishing at a time when dollars cannot be spared to buy new American machines, a good deal of labor has been lost through the repatriation of prisoners of war and the demobilization of many in the Women's Land Army. Notwithstanding these disheartening conditions, it is quite clear that the United Kingdom farmer is going to fight the famine with the same intensity with which he fought the war."

Science Making Attempt To Find Cure For Common Cold

At last science has declared war on the common cold. The test-tube wizards have long been fighting their endless feud with cancer, tuberculosis and heart disease, but this is the first time they have attempted an all-out blitz, on coughs and sneezes.

The United States National Institute of Health has announced that early in July it will open its campaign to discover prevention and cure for civilization's greatest and most irksome time-waster.

Dr. Rolla Ryer, institute director, discloses that a research team will be assigned to the program, which will last at least five years. Key researchers will be a medical officer, a research expert specializing in viruses, an epidemiologist and possibly a bio-chemist.

Their first task will be to isolate the cold virus or, if there are a number of different viruses, causing a variety of colds, to isolate each type of virus. When this has been done the researchers will go to work to develop a vaccine which will provide immunity against colds.

For the first year of investigation the researchers have been allocated $50,000. This sum is negligible when it is realized that in the United States alone colds every day keep 250,000 workers away from their jobs. And if the project is a success the relief in human misery will be incalculable.

By 1950, hazards the Vancouver Province, we may look forward to clearing out the cold remedies from the medicine cabinet. In the meantime we may as well keep our fingers crossed, stay out of drafts and stow a handkerchief in our pocket.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

May See Mistake

Some Farmers' Sons Returning From Overseas Prefer City Life

We heard, says the St. Mary's Journal-Argus, about a well-to-do elderly farmer, who has been working his hand to hold his well-stocked two hundred acres for his two boys who had been interested in farming before going overseas. On their return, the brothers said no, they were taking jobs in Windsor. Regrettably the old gentleman has said the home place. We wonder how much better off these lads will be after they have paid high rent, income tax and numerous city expenses. How many city folk have any cash at all after their year's struggle with the budget?

ON WAY BACK

A house agent had a farm on his books which was supposed to be haunted, and to prove rumor wrong he decided to engage a man to stay there for one night.

The following day he was up early and went around to see how the man had fared. On the lawn he discovered the remains of a window sash and shutters completely wrecked, but the watchman there was no sign.

Four days later the house agent came across him tramping along a country lane three miles away.

"Hallo, George!" he cried. "Where have you been all this time?"

The man wiped the perspiration from his brow. "Boss," he replied, "I've been coming back."

PIANIST, 15, TO PLAY WITH PHILHARMONIC

— Philippa Duke Schuyler, youthful musician, who was 15 on Aug. 2, makes her debut with the Philharmonic Symphony orchestra in New York. Daughter of a Negro journalist, she will be guest pianist in the Saint Saens G-minor concerto. The orchestra will play one of her original compositions during its program.

The Coming Age

Will See More And Varied Products From Plastics

The makers of plastics held an exposition in New York to show how many things they had devised from their products. On display were:

Plastic bugles and trumpets which require no warming up. Also a string orchestra, with all instruments of plastics.

Golf clubs made of molded nylon; a plastic boat; a horse with a plastic saddle. (The horse was of the old-fashioned sort.)

Plastic wallpaper on which Junior can scribble without getting scolded, and a plastic gown which cannot be stained by a spilled cocktail—you just rub it with a damp rag.

A $30 toy which manufactures on demand little plastic toys, such as buildings, horses, cowboys.—New York Herald Tribune.

Bravery Bejiggered!

An admiring group surrounded the boy who had plunged into the canal and effected a rescue.

"That was real bravery, my little man," exclaimed a bystander.

"Bravery bejiggered!" returned the dripping hero. "He had four of my marbles in his pocket."

We're always hearing about these "zero hours" in various disputes. It's a good name, because nothing happens at those hours.

EYE INFORMATION

Do you know that diseased tonsils and adenoids, diphtheria, smallpox, nasal infections, whooping cough, measles and most of the children's diseases can produce eye infections?

A noted Canadian eye specialist is our authority for this and he reveals that some of these infections can be avoided by vaccination, tonsillectomy, toxoid treatment and care in avoiding contact with persons with communicable diseases.

Concerning other eye troubles in early life our authority reports as follows:

Congenital cataract can be avoided only by the prevention of marriage in families with this trouble. Some congenital eye conditions can be avoided by proper diet, the avoidance of infection and the cure of venereal diseases before conception. Interstitial keratitis is due to congenital venereal diseases in 95 per cent of cases and five per cent, to tubercular diseases.

Small nodules or red patches on the surface of the eye — Phlyctenular Keratitis—are usually of tubercular origin and are largely borne in type. The use of pasteurized milk would make this disease rarer.

Crossed eyes can be prevented from becoming useless if the child is provided with glasses if early examination proves they are necessary. For those not equipped with glasses, the poor eye will be developed if the good one is covered. In some cases an operation may be necessary.

A turned eye may be blind from a tumor. It may be scarred or the muscles may be unable to hold the eye in the correct position. An eye that is not used loses its vision.

Allergy to a certain food in some cases causes an eye condition. Tests have been made to determine which foods cause the allergy. In the case of hay fever, tests should be made to discover which serum is needed to relieve the condition.

Eye injuries, treated promptly, may prevent sympathetic disease of the eye.

Going on to eye troubles which can be incurred after childhood, our authority advises that industrial workers should always use protective glasses when necessary and should have proper illumination at their work. These precautions will prevent accidents and avoid eye strain. Sinus and tonsil infections, foreign bodies should be removed as quickly as possible.

Iritis, caused by infected teeth or gums, is much too common, and could be avoided by proper dental care. Sinus and tonsil infections after childhood also affect the eyes.

Lack of vitamins in the diet during childhood may show up later as red lids, red watery, irritable eyes and poorer vision. A diet of milk, cheese and butter, whole wheat bread and citrus fruits may prevent and cure these troubles.

Venereal disease can cause several eye complaints and can lead to blindness. However, the eyes can be saved with prompt treatment.

Blurred vision may be due to glaucoma, or may merely indicate the need of glasses. In case of the former, early treatment is of value. Sometimes an operation is indicated.

Diabetes can lead to formation of cataract, but early diagnosis of this

Make this 30-day test!

1. If you're really ill, see your doctor! But if you just feel dull and achey, you may only be suffering from incomplete elimination. Especially if you're over 35. Here's how one simple change of diet can help you keep fit!

2. Start now to eat Kellogg's Bran Flakes every morning. If you want to keep feeling fit the natural way, get more of the "bulk" your system needs by eating delicious, gently-laxative Kellogg's Bran Flakes With Other Parts Of Wheat.

3. Just thirty days should prove to you how grand it is to feel alert, and have the energy for all the extra things you'd like to do. You'll want to go on keeping fit the Kellogg way!

Bran Flakes, Pep, Corn Flakes, All-Bran, Rice Krispies, Krumbles and All-Wheat are all made by Kellogg's, the greatest name in cereal.

disease and proper adherence to diet and inulin treatment frequently checks their formation.

Eye hemorrhages may be caused by high blood pressure or anemia. Prompt treatment of the cause makes possible the saving of the eyesight.

Muscular paralysis, which causes an eye to turn suddenly out of line or make one see double, may be caused by diabetes, venereal disease, a nervous disorder, brain tumor or hemorrhages. However, early diagnosis generally can prevent or relieve most cases of this type of paralysis.

Styes and pimples on the eyelids may be a sign of diabetes or some other internal trouble.

Persian Carpets

Are Products Of Craftsmen Whose Artistry Is Unequaled

The ancient land of Persia, front page news in the papers for so many years, has meanwhile been playing another and quieter part in our daily life.

Persian carpets are selling at immense prices in British salarials. Carpets of any kind are scarce enough to fetch high prices in these days of acute shortages, but Persian carpets are often unique, and their magnificent workmanship has kept them in the forefront throughout the troubled centuries.

Persia taught the world how to make carpets, with an artistry and craftsmanship never yet equalled. She has not yet persuaded the world to use carpets as Persians do, not merely for decorating the floor of a room, and keeping it warm, but as wall decoration in place of pictures, for sitting and sleeping on, and as tables for the daily meals. All these have long been Persian uses for carpets, and they certainly tend to make life a little simpler.

The older Persian carpets are, the finer they are, and the best of them are almost priceless. Sir Murdoch Smith, a famous antiquary, once said that the floor of the Chehel Sitan Palace at Isfahan was covered with a fine carpet which had been in use since the time of Shah Abbas, who reigned at the end of the 16th century. If it is there still it is a notable link with a notable past.

Britain Plans To Develop Her Tourist Trade

LONDON—Great Britain's tourist industry is facing the tremendous task of rehabilitation with confidence and considerable restraint. Because it is a task that will take some time Britain is not inviting a flow of tourist traffic before 1947, and the slogan for the industry now is "Come to Britain next year and not this."

Those who must visit England in 1946 for business or other compelling reasons, and who can get shipping or plane space, will be welcome to the best the country can give. However, only in the spirit of hospitality will this reach pre-war standards. Food and housing accommodations are still on an austerity basis, though somewhat improved over wartime standards.

While British hotel men are rebuilding the 24,000 hotels and licensed houses destroyed or damaged by bombing, and reconditioning those buildings requisitioned by the Government and its Allies, they are planning to rebuild as well the spirit and pace and the conveniences with which they catered to visitors. They have become aware mainly through the GI who was stationed here during the war of the potentialities of the tourist traffic. And they have learned from him what pre-war tourists could have told them—that they were not satisfied with old-world plumbing and the slow methods of waiters, chambermaids and bellboys.

It is popularly supposed that English cooking will remove any appetite at a glance and that watery Brussels sprouts are the only vegetables cooked here. That is not true, but it was true that too often visitors to England were confronted with meals that did not reflect credit on the cooks. That is one of the things that will be improved in the future.

Britain manufactures excellent beds, but in the past such beds were not found in the majority of hotels. They will be in the future because hoteliers have at last realized that the client who lies uneasy is unlikely to return.

All this is beginning to be understood here and hoteliers have banded together to advertise through the Government-sponsored British Travel Association what they have to offer in the way of accommodations, meals and amenities.

The British Travel Association received nearly 20,000 applications for overseas membership, the bulk of them from the United States and Canada—in response to a recent offer extending honorary membership to service men and women who served in Britain during the war.

FRILLY CLOTHING

British Women May Soon Buy More Attractive Garments

LONDON—Frills, furrows, pleats, pockets and buttons will soon bedeck British women's clothing once more, relieving the wartime austerity designs.

It will be autumn or winter before the new goods reach the shops. Price-controlled utility coats, costumes and frocks will be slightly more expensive due to the extra working hours involved on non-austerity styles. The increase will be approximately 15 per cent. on each garment.

Austerity regulations, first introduced in 1942, limited the number of pleats, buttons and pockets on any one garment, and stopped the use of frills, lace sequins and all kinds of trimming. The object was to save material and labor.

Austerity restrictions have also been lifted from underwear but although it is now slightly gathered and ruffled and trimmed with little bows, manufacturers are unable to make anything extremely elaborate as lace is still unobtainable for the home market.

NEED COAT OF PAINT

Buildings All Over Britain Are Looking Pretty Shabby

Wherever you travel in Britain, one thing strikes the eye immediately: the whole country needs a good coat of paint.

Somewhere, says Basil Dean, in the Vancouver Province, the blistered, pockmarked paintwork of stores and houses, office buildings and railway stations symbolizes the austerity of living which is the influencing factor and the main topic of conversation.

Paint was drafted during the war. It is in process of being demobilized now—you can buy glossy paint in a limited number of shades in most stores. But the painters were called up, too; and they aren't being demobilized as quickly. Those who are out of uniform have all been directed into new building projects, and it is still almost impossible to get small redecorating work done.

STILL HAS VISTORS

But League Of Nations Buildings In Geneva Are Deserted

GENEVA—The League of Nations' first great experiment in international unity, has come down to $10,000,000 worth of empty buildings stricken by a lone, vain-glorious peacock.

This white, deserted village, where the initial bid for world peace faltered, once was a beautiful farm on the edge of Lake Geneva's shimmering waters.

On this farm dozens of peacocks walked in spread-tailed wonder as men built a whitestoned citadel of peace and co-operation in the pleasant pastures.

The peacocks gawked from green hedges as famous men from many lands met to bargain and palaver. One by one, the peacocks died. Now only one is left. The symbol of defeat which these empty halls represent means nothing to this peacock but it does call to others who walk through this forlorn world capital and think of all the graves filled by its failure.

Before the Second Great War began, thousands of tourists filed daily through these vast chambers and colorful gardens. Some 300 visitors daily still walk along the empty corridors, but it is as if they trod some old mausoleum.

The rubberized floors are still slick and shiny new. Little dust has collected in the hundreds of offices and ornate committee rooms. With $2,500,000 spent yearly for upkeep during the war years it was no difficult problem to keep the league's home clean.

U.N. Is Moving To Site Of N.Y. Fair Grounds

NEW YORK—The business of molding the world of tomorrow will be transferred to the original site of "the World of Tomorrow"—the old world's fair grounds—when the United Nations general assembly moves to its interim home in Flushing Meadow Park in September.

On a portion of the 1,200-acre tract, where 45,000,000 sightseers gazed at the wondrous things to come, delegates from the 51 United Nations will be striving for a peaceful world to put them in. At the moment, all that's left of the wonders is an overgrown wasteland of tangled shrubs and bushes covering the former gay, fluorescent-lighted fairgrounds.

The U.N. area centres around the New York City Building, filled with municipal exhibits during the fair, and later turned into two mammoth ice and roller skating rinks.

From the front of the building delegates will look down what used to be the fountain-lined Constitution Mall, and straight over to the spot where millions marvelled at the nightly fire and fireworks displays in the Lagoon of Nations. The Court of Peace, with its impressive intersecting colored searchlights, is no more, and the League of Nations Building, as well as the others, has been torn down.

Some 300 workmen are getting the City Building and a surrounding area, about 1,200 feet in radius, in shape for the U.N.

Symbolically, the ground now being smoothed from tangled grass to velvet-smooth lawns and flower beds includes the "time capsule" buried during the fair to give future generations an idea of what we were like.

The U.N. will meet just a few hundred yards from the spot where 10,000,000-volt electric lightning flashes were produced for the awe of fairgoers, and within the vicinity that boasted such wondrous sights as television demonstrations of the robot which spoke under the aegis of the telephone company, and the men with apparently bottomless lungs who produced waves and other vessels from molten glass.

New York's building and the surrounding grounds are being furnished by the city at a cost of more than $1,000,000, and the U.N. is spending more than $300,000 on equipment. Biggest job facing the contracting company is converting the erstwhile skating rinks into an auditorium which will seat more than 2,000.

The 420x200-foot building, now dotted with sawhorses, wheelbarrows and grayed-down workmen is being divided in the middle. The ice skating side is being built to floor level with what the workmen call "shredded wheat" blocks and concrete, and will accommodate committee rooms, a lounge, cloakroom and foyer. The roller rink is being covered and converted into the assembly hall proper. It will be flanked with movies, television and radio.

"REMEMBRANCE DAY"

Will Be Observed In Britain On Nov. 10 This Year

LONDON—Prime Minister Attlee told the House of Commons that Sunday, Nov. 10, will be observed this year as "Remembrance Day" for the dead of both Great Wars. The King will conduct an unveiling ceremony at the Cenotaph in Whitehall.

Mr. Attlee said it had been agreed that the Sunday before Nov. 11 in each year should be known as Remembrance Sunday. However, in case Nov. 11 or 12 fell on Sunday, then that date would be Remembrance Sunday.

The dates "1939-1945" would be added to the Cenotaph, which now bears the dates only of the First Great War.

On Remembrance Sunday there would in the future be a national observance at 11 a.m. at the Cenotaph, with the traditional two minutes' silence. Hitherto this ceremony has always taken place on Nov. 11—the date of the 1918 Armistice, regardless of on what day of the week it fell.

OLD CUSTOM

Duke Of Wellington Called On The King To Pay His Rent

The Duke of Wellington called on the King to pay his rent, a silk banner presented annually on the anniversary of the Battle of Waterloo, in exchange for which the family holds the Hampshire estate of Stratfield Saye given the First Duke of Wellington after Waterloo.

Every year the Duke hands over the small tri-color to the King. Similar rent is paid by the Duke of Marlborough for Blenheim Palace on the anniversary of the Battle of Blenheim.

TINY BABY CONQUERS DISEASES
MOBILE, Ala.—Mobile's "incubator" baby of 1943, Ronald Regan Moore, who at the time was a 13-inch "kitten sized" infant, weighing only two pounds and 11 ounces, at last has grown to be a normal child. While it took two years of hard fighting against various diseases, Ronnie, now 2 years and 4 months old, weighs 25 pounds and is of normal height for his age.

RAW SILK

Say Real Silk Is Coming Back For Limited Use

Real silk will probably return to the Canadian market, but the field for its use will be limited and the price high, Horace Boivin, vice-president of the Silk Association of Canada, said in Montreal.

"However, there no doubt still remains a limited field for the use of silk, but—no word of warning—raw silk is at present about four times the pre-war price and the price of silk goods will have to correspond," Mr. Boivin added.

USING PLANES

Fishermen Have Method Of Spotting Schools Of Tuna Fish

Tuna fishermen, plying Oregon's coastal waters for the prized albacore, will no longer have to perch a man in a crow's nest to spot the tuna schools.

Packing plants will employ airplanes from a local airport to spot the schools when the run begins about June 1 each year.

The pilots will search out the schools, radio the fish, which in turn will message the fishing fleet the exact spot of the schools.

RECEIVES TITLE

As a viscount, Lord Louis Mountbatten, formerly Allied supreme commander in southeast Asia, will be able for the first time to sit in the house of lords. Lord Louis, cousin of the king, was given the title in the king's birthday honors list. His former title was merely a courtesy, since he was the younger son of the Marquess of Milford Haven, whose family name was Mountbatten.
